

UAE utility company partners with SAP

Dubai: Sun, 13 Mar 2011

UAE's Federal Authority of Electricity & Water (Fewa) has signed a strategic agreement with SAP Middle East and North Africa.

The move is in line with Fewa's aim to standardise all divisions or on SAP software solutions as a step towards achieving Fewa's vision of being a world class utility company.

By working together with SAP, Fewa intends to upgrade its services to be available and easy to use, and also to drive future discussions with the renowned international company.

The said agreement includes running workshops about power generation, perfect plants, transmission, distribution, future smart grids, smart metering operations, pre-payment, renewable energies, sustainable cities, CO2 reporting, and overall sustainability.

'This step comes within Fewa's efforts to improve our activities and to enhance co-operation between Govt. bodies and private sector companies,' said Mohammed Saleh, director general of Fewa.-
